COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

MONDAY EVENING, Nov. 23.

THE commercial telegrams from home of Saturday's date are generally very quiet in tone. The Produce markets are mostly reported as unchanged, and with the exception of a recovery in Indian securities amounting to ¼ in the 3½ per cent. Sterling Loan and ¼ in Rupee Paper, no alteration is advised in the usual Stock Exchange items.

The Bank of Bombay return for the week ending on Saturday shows the following changes :—

Public Deposits at H. O.	Inc.	Rs.	34,28,461
Do. do. branches	Dec.	"	1,12,990
Other Deposits	Inc.	"	28,97,576
Government Securities	Inc.	"	995
Loans	Dec.	"	13,803
Bills Discounted	Inc.	"	1,56,070
Cash with other Banks	Inc.	"	4,62,426
Cash and Currency Notes	Inc.	"	55,21,393

This large increase in the Cash Balance brings it up again to the level of a month ago, and shows, as we throughout anticipated, that the withdrawals during the past two weeks were in a great measure due to temporary requirements. The heavy addition to the Government balances is understood to be owing to surplus railway funds finding their way to the bank through the Accountant-General. The fact that these will probably be withdrawn again in the course of a few weeks for the payment of dividends will not in reality decrease the proportionate strength of the bank, as the Government account otherwise is very nearly at its lowest point, and will probably improve from now onwards.

EXCHANGE :—Business is exceedingly quiet, and there is no alteration in rates for ready bills. The feeling of the market, however, is very steady, and the banks show more disposition to sell than buy for future delivery. Closing quotations are :—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 6 5-32d.	per rupee.
Do. Telegraphic	1s. 6 1-8d.	"
Do. 3 months' sight	1s. 6 9-32d.	"
Credits, 3 months' sight	1s. 6¼d.	"
France, 3 months' sight	193½ to 194	"

GOVERNMENT PAPER is still firm, and ¼ to ½ dearer owing to the higher prices advised from London. We quote : Rupee Rs. 99½, both for ready and delivery at the end of the month. Fours-and-a-half have improved to Rs. 99½.

SHARES.—The market continues steady, but without any very marked activity. Amongst Press Companies, Colaba have improved to Rs. 790, Bombay to Rs. 205, and Fort Press to Rs. 1,375. Spinning and Weaving Mills are slightly irregular. City of Bombay have advanced to Rs. 840, Framjee Petit to Rs. 670, Madras United to Rs. 2,625, and People of India to Rs. 185, but Jeewan Ballov, Khatao Muckonjee, and Oriental are all Rs. 2½ easier.

COTTON.—The Liverpool market on Saturday closed steady, with sales of 8,000 bales, including 500 Surats, a very fair business. Prices were unchanged and New York was unaltered, showing that, while Messrs. Neill Brothers' report may have induced a pause in the upward movement, it has not been sufficient to bring about a reaction.

Here the market remains very firm. Buyers do not seem inclined to pay current rates, but they cannot buy at less, and we hear of some Fully Good Bengals having changed hands at Rs. 170 for this month. We quote to-day :—

	Good.	Fully Good.	Fine.
Bengals, ready	165	170
Do. delivery	{ 163 Dec. 159 Jan.	168 Dec.
Omras, ready	190 Nov.
Do. delivery	{ 188 Dec.-Jan. 186 March.	193
Broach	212 do.
Dholleras	188 April	193	199

WHEAT has entirely lost any little firmness it had a week ago and some of the then buyers for future delivery are trying to resell. This necessarily imports an exceedingly dull feeling, but sellers of ready stuff are as firm as ever.

SEEDS are quiet all round, with very little doing either ready or forward.

FREIGHTS are extremely dull, and with the exception of some speculative orders for Hull, April shipment, given out at 23s. 9d. we have not heard of anything being done. Quotations are :—

	Ready.	Forward.
Liverpool	17-6	17-6 to 18
London		17-6 to 20
Open Charter	21-3	22-6 to 25
Havre	21-3 to 22-6	22-6 to 25
Dunkirk	21-3 to 22-6	22-6 to 25
Antwerp	21-3 to 22-6	22-6 to 25

The Bombay Gazette

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1885.

WE hear that the Government of India have arranged to appoint four Deputy Commissioners, with four assistants, for the conduct of the administration of Burmah after its annexation. They have also ordered plant for the construction of railways throughout the province. Mr. Colquhoun has been nominated Deputy Commissioner of the first grade in the new Commission.

DR. BELLEW, the Sanitary Commissioner of the Punjab, has written a "History of Cholera in India from 1861 to 1882," which deserves to take an honourable place in the literature of State medicine. It is a ponderous work of more than eight hundred pages, and while not by any means wanting in originality of suggestion and treatment, it is in the main a laborious yet clear and intelligible condensation of all the official records bearing on the subject which have been issued during the past twenty years. There is nothing in the work which indicates that it has been done under the auspices of the Government and with their aid ; but the preparation of such a book as this is a State service, which is not sure of securing the ordinary rewards of literary or scientific labour, and which therefore is entitled to some form of State recognition. Dr. Bellew's purpose has been mainly historical, and its chief feature therefore is an admirable presentation in literary form of the substance of the official records bearing on the subject, giving preference, as he explains, to such records as seemed best to illustrate the relation of cholera prevalence to climatic influences, coupled with descriptions of the actual life-conditions and surroundings of those exposed to the action of the disease. And he brings his work to a conclusion by setting forth views of his own regarding the causes and nature of cholera, of which it is safe to say that they will be as eagarly disputed as every view must be which seems to present any aspect of the cholera controversy in a new light. At a time when the principle of periodicity is applied to financial crises and to famines, it requires no great courage to put forward a theory establishing a triennial periodicity in recurring cholera epidemics. Dr. Bellew, indeed, disclaims an exclusive possession of the theory. It is no invention of his own, he says, nor does he pretend to offer an explanation of the phenomenon as such ; but it is a fact, he affirms, plainly declared by the statistics of the disease in all parts of the country throughout the series of years which he has investigated. As the disease has its regularly alternating seasons of activity and of quiescence in every year, so also has it in every cycle of years. Whatever may be said as to the validity of the theory, Dr. Bellew has not been remiss in furnishing evidence in proof of it. His statistics deal with twenty years, comprising six complete triennial cycles, and these cycles are shown to be natural periods of cholera activity, abatement, and subsidence in more or less regularly recurring orderly sequence. But this part of the inquiry has not yet been satisfactorily completed. Dr. Bellew, while he feels himself justified in asserting an undoubted relation between the meteorology of a place and its liability to cholera activity, cautiously admits that the exact nature of this relation has never yet been determined, and that in the meantime any explanation of the phenomena of weather and the prevalence of cholera in the relation of cause and effect can only be accepted on its own merits. If all the upholders of new theories would be as modest in statement, the way to scientific truth would be encumbered by fewer obstructions.

The most strictly controversial part of Dr. Bellew's work is the lengthy chapter of "Deductions and Practical Observations" with which it concludes. His query "What is cholera ?" will invite as many and as various answers as the much older inquiry "What is truth ?" His answer—that it is simply an influenza or catarrh of the mucous membrane of the alimentary canal, precisely homologous to the influenza or catarrh of the mucous membrane of the respiratory passages—is one amongst many that have been given, and when the doctors differ there is small encouragement to laymen to search for harmony amongst them. It is easy, however, to find a large body of medical opinion, divided upon positive points, yet in thorough harmony upon an important negation. Dr. Bellew, for instance, affirming the catarrhal nature of cholera, is directly at issue with Dr. Chapman, whose recent suggestions on the subject have awakened a good deal of interest, and who lays it down that cholera is essentially a disease of the nervous system, and that all its symptoms are due to simultaneous and abnormal superabundance of blood in, and excessively preternatural activity of, both the spinal cord and the sympathetic nervous centres. Yet their theories are commonly exclusive of the germ theory, of which Dr. Bellew, apparently without meaning to be humorous, remarks that, shorn of its germ element, it contains more of the truth of cholera than all the others together, forgetting that the germ theory minus the germ element must be even an emptier thing than "Hamlet" minus Hamlet. It is of some interest to us to notice that Dr. Chapman, in endeavouring to demolish Dr. Koch's cholera microbe theory, largely avails himself of the assistance of Dr. Waters, who sent from Bombay to one of the medical journals a few months ago what Dr. Chapman describes as an extremely interesting, important, and suggestive paper on the comma-shaped bacillus. Dr. Waters' investigations led him to the conclusion that the curved bacilli are not specifically connected with cholera, and that, though they are an indubitable pathological feature of the disease, this will probably soon be shown to be something more in the shape of a consequence than a cause of the malady. He suggests, too, that in all probability the bacillus is concerned in nitrogenous fermentation, or as Dr. Chapman with admirable humour puts it, it seems possible that this microscopic entity is in reality an exclusively good genius, displaying its especial beneficence to man by occupying itself incessantly in promoting and completing the all-important function of digestion.

Dr. Bellew, having a substantive theory of his own, has no thought for Dr. Koch and his bacilli, and indeed he so abariously fulfils the function of the medical historian that he shows small regard for biological theories which have for years abounded wherever the cholera controversy has been raised. He gives us, however, what belongs more essentially to a work which professes to be a contribution to the history of State medicine—an admirable summary of some of the better known theories relating to the dissemination of cholera, while he pays special attention to the contagion theory, with its practical results in quarantine and sanitary cordons. It is curious to turn back now to the decision of the Special Commission appointed by the Government of India in 1861, in which it was affirmed, regarding the communicability of cholera by human intercourse, "We have no hesitation in declaring our belief that, whether or not the proof of this fact be complete, the evidence of its truth is so strong that it must, in the present state of our knowledge, form to no small extent the basis on which preventive measures must be based." The most curious thing about it is that this loose declaration of a scientific conclusion is not more than twenty four years old. It is less surprising to find an International Sanitary Conference at Constantinople affirming the same thing with equal confidence, but with no timid confessions of the inadequacy of the proofs. Only fifteen months ago the French Academy of Medicine valiantly proclaimed the contagion theory, and the latest declaration on the subject is that which the International Sanitary Conference at Rome made a few months ago, and to which in great part we owe the new impositions of quarantine at Suez which have vexed the souls of travellers, have obstructed commerce, and have made the very name of a Sanitary Board obnoxious to every one interested in the traffic between East and West. Nowhere are there better opportunities of testing the validity of the theory of the contagiousness of cholera than in India, and nowhere has the theory fewer adherents. The belief in it, Dr. Bellew remarks, is now fast disappearing in most parts of the country, and he furnishes abundant reasons for rejecting it. The almost absolute immunity of attendants upon cholera patients in hospitals ; the impunity with which cholera patients are treated in the same wards with the sufferers from other ailments ; the clear proof that cholera waves do not travel, in all directions, as human beings do ; the absence of any material increase in the amount, and of any material change in the distribution, of cholera, despite the enormous increase in the facilities of locomotion ; the practical exemption of England from cholera, although the maritime communication with India is infinitely greater than that between India and the European countries recently visited with epidemics—all these belong to the commonplaces of the subject. But when the commonplace is ignored by august scientific assemblies, it seems necessary that it should be drawn up

DEFEAT OF THE SERVIANS AT THE DRAGOMAN PASS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 22.

An intimation has been sent by Turkey to the Great Powers that failing European intervention in Bulgaria she will attack the Servians.

King Milan has been summoned by the Sultan to evacuate Bulgarian territory.

Turkish troops are being collected on the frontier.

SOFIA, Nov. 22.

The Bulgarians to-day attacked the height occupied by the Servians in the Dragoman Pass, and, notwithstanding the stubborn resistance made, the Servians were expelled and their positions occupied by the Bulgarians after a most sanguinary engagement.

THE WAR IN UPPER BURMAH.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

RANGOON, Nov. 23.

The Rangoon Gazette's Tonghoo correspondence :—The Burmese troops are collecting at Ngyas, where the governor is enrolling villagers. Wing received Thoebaw's orders to defend the place against the British advance. One hundred marines with the Admiral left on Saturday in the mail-train for the front. A detachment of the 11th Bengal Infantry arriving yesterday, was sent by special train.

The Gazette thinks that press messages to Rangoon from the front have been forbidden, as no details of recent operations have been received. The wildest rumours are afloat amongst the Burmese owing to the absence of intelligence.

FIELD FORCE (THRO. THAYETMYO), Nov. 18.

The Naval Brigade in advance of the Flotilla reached Minboo, twelve miles north of Minhla. The forts on the west bank appear deserted.

Two Italians, Comoto and Molinari, ran down the bank this morning and surrendered soon after leaving Minhla. Both are engineers in Thoebaw's employ, superintending the frontier defences. They state that fear of the Burmese, after their two reverses, induced them to surrender. Drawings of the forts and obstructions in the river were found in Comoto's pocket-book. This proves that the rapid advance of the expedition has surprised the Burmese, and prevented the completion of the defences

Nov. 19.

The advance of the Flotilla is delayed owing to the strong current and the steamers having flats in tow. At one point the steamer Ataran could only take one flat past at a time, and when she returned for the second flat it capsized when being taken in tow. No lives were lost. The flat was carrying two 6-3 howitzers. There were sand, wind, and rain all day.

The force advance to-morrow, and we hope to reach Yenangyoung, an important place containing petroleum wells.

RELEASE OF FATHER KANOVICS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, Nov. 23.

Justices Hutchins and Parker delivered judgment to-day in the appeal case of Kanovics, the alleged Russian spy, committed to prison for six months by the Deputy Magistrate of Cochin, in default of entering into a good behaviour. On the recorded evidence the court saw no reason to doubt that he is the person he presents himself to be, and there is no reason whatever to apprehend that he is likely to commit any offence against the law, or foment any offence. The court therefore set aside the order of the Deputy Magistrate, and directed that the appellant be forthwith discharged from custody.

ON Mr. Hogg, Director-General of Post Offices assuming charge, Mr. H. E. M. James, officiating Director-General, will be gazetted Deputy Director-General, and he will then go on eighteen months' furlough.

MR. I. B. B. KING is permitted to resign the Bengal Civil Service, with effect from the 19th August, 1885. Mr. King arrived in India in 1860.

YESTERDAY, at the Criminal Sessions of the High Court, a case illustrative of the folly of decking native children with ornaments, and allowing them to run about in the streets without protection, was heard before Mr. Justice Scott and a special jury. Kuverjee Ludha, the prisoner in the case, was charged with having murdered Tribhowun Damodhur, a goldsmith's son, who had several ornaments on him, on the Esplanade, on the morning of the 8th inst. The boy had been strangled with his own waist-cloth; and the prisoner had given a history of the crime in a confession voluntarily made by him before Mr. Ryan, Presidency Magistrate. His lordship remarked that it was a great pity that parents in this country allowed their children to go about in the streets with ornaments on their person. The prisoner was found guilty, and sentenced to be hanged.

THE agricultural loans advanced in the Murshidabad district on account of the recent floods amount to Rs. 16,532. The Relief Committee had distributed Rs. 3,503, and have still Rs. 1,289 in hand. The works on the roads employ 1,200 persons, and the Collector reports that "all classes seem to be contented."

THE Government of India has already taken a step towards making up the loss sustained by the recent warlike preparations at the expense of the improvements hereafter to be carried out by the local Governments. A circular has been forwarded to all the local Governments, notifying that, on account of the additional burdens imposed and likely to be imposed upon the Imperial finances, it is most probable that advantage will have to be taken of the new contracts with the different local Governments which will come into force on the 1st of April, 1887. It is, therefore, necessary, that up to that date the Provincial Governments should not commit themselves to any fresh projects, or engage their revenue in fresh expenditure. Under the present arrangement the local Governments have power to sanction public works the expenditure on which is provincial, provided the total expenditure does not exceed 12½ lakhs, without reference to the period within which the work is to be completed. Under existing circumstances, however, it is considered desirable to suspend the powers of local Governments in respect of new works which will not be completed before the 31st of March, 1887; and from this date no new scheme or project is to be sanctioned by any local Government or Administration involving expenditure after the 31st of March, 1887, without the sanction of the Government of India being previously obtained.

SUPERINTENDENT REID, formerly of the Calcutta Police, tells an amusing and absolutely true but not absolutely new story in his "Collection of Indian Detective Experiences," which bears on the purity of Indian University examinations. The Director of Public Instruction was anxious to defeat the attempts to obtain copies of the examination papers. He had a press brought into his private office, had the matter set up, and only so many sheets as were required struck off. While the Director was looking at a proof impression, the printer lifted up the tail of his chapkan, and sitting on the type, obtained an impression on the seat of his white cotton pyjahmas, without exciting suspicion. After watching the printing, seeing the type distributed, and taking the copies into custody, the Director said to a friend :—"No tampering with the examination papers this time." But "the best laid schemes o' mice an' men gang aft agley." The printer, availing himself of the imprint he had obtained, reset the type at another press, and found a good market for his wares. But there was a traitor in the camp, and the plot was revealed. No prosecution could follow, for the compilers and cobblers of the Penal Code had never contemplated such an offence, no tangible Government "property having been stolen or misappropriated. Fresh papers were prepared, and the plotters gained nothing by their cuteness.

THE prospects of the Mysore gold field have considerably improved of late, and, if official reports may be relied on, there is good reason to believe that there is after all a brilliant future for the "Benighted Presidency," so far at any rate as its mineral wealth is concerned. In a report by Captain Plummer, of the Mysore Gold Company, mention is made of the discovery of a lode that is "exceedingly fine; it is opened to a length of 33 ft., showing an average width of vein 4 ft. to 4 ft. 6 in., and the general average of the assays have been over 6 oz. to the ton of quartz. The lode in the north end, in the 236 ft. level, is very fine in appearance. The assay value is 3 ozs. 2 dwts. 1 gr. and promises to improve. In the 236 south end the lode is a little disordered by an intrusion of trap; it is 3 ft. 6 in. wide, yielding 2 ozs. 17 dwts. 4 grs. of fine gold per ton of rock. In the 236, south of the shaft, the lode is 6 ft. wide; it produces 5 ozs. 1 dwt. 6 grs. per ton of ore. In the slope in the back of the 236, the lode is not very wide, being about 3 ft.; it will yield 6 ozs. 4 dwts. 3 grs. of fine gold per ton of rock." The Madras Mail says that Captain Plummer's reports have always been characterised by clearness and moderation of language."

IT was stated in the Gribble vs. Arbuthnot case the other day that the five or six concessionaires of the Kolar field were offered £750,000 for their interest therein. They had obtained the land for the asking from the Dewan of Mysore, and had spent a few thousands of rupees in exploiting it. All the concessionaires but one were in Madras. The exception was in England, negotiating for the sale of his interest. Syndicates at that place and here agreed to accept £750,000, but he thought it well to stand out for a cool million sterling, and the offer then fell through. If the twenty square miles are now proved to be largely permeated by reefs or lodes assaying from 2 to 6 ounces of gold per ton, the "field" may soon have a value not far short of a million, and a very pretty plum may fall into the mouth of the Maharaja's Government, which has secured a royalty of 5 per cent. on all the gold raised.

DURING the last fortnight reports have been current in Pondicherry to the effect that during Governor Richaud's late absence in Bengal the Meingoon Prince, eldest son of the late King of Burmah, had made his escape to Paris. There happened, by mere chance, to be several circumstances which favoured the report. The Prince sold a carriage and some other property, and suddenly ceased to appear in the early evening in his accustomed seat on the verandah of his house facing the sea; he did not mess at Government House. His Excellency's return to Pondicherry from Chandernagore; and an old Mussulman, who was almost a daily attendant upon the Prince, suddenly discontinued his visits. The Prince, however, is still quite safe at Pondicherry.

AN important irrigation work has been completed in the North-West Provinces. The river Betwa enters the extreme south-west corner of the province near Jhansi, and, after a considerable course, joins the Jumna at Hamirpur. On the 28th of September last the Betwa Canal was opened, and water is now running in 300 miles of channel, while for over no less than 260 miles it is affording irrigation. The weir, which is 4,000 feet in length, with a maximum height of 60 feet in the deepest channel, is not a new part of the work; it has now stood the test of two rainy seasons with entire success, no damage of any kind having occurred. The leakage below the weir is practically nothing, and the wall itself is perfectly staunch. The calculated full supply of the river Betwa in flood is 750,000 cubic feet per second, with an afflux on the weir of seventeen feet. The highest flood as yet experienced was on the 6th of August, 1884, when upwards of 520,000 cubic feet were discharged, with a depth on the crest of thirteen feet. The heavy gates and powerful lifting gear of the weir sluices and head works of the Canal were only fixed this year, and they are working satisfactorily. The destructive flood on the Kali Nadi, in the Etah District, in July last, wrecking as it did the solid masonry aqueduct of the Lower Ganges Canal, shows the strain that is occasionally thrown upon such works in this part of the country. The Betwa rises to the south in the Central Indian hills, but, equally with the northern rivers, it is liable to heavy floods, against which it is necessary to make ample provision.

A CORRESPONDENT at Furreedpore informs a Calcutta paper that, in consequence of the difficulty experienced by respectable Kulin Brahmins in procuring husbands for their grown-up daughters, the happy Brahmin in Eastern Bengal has exceptional value. In several instances, three to four young ladies were betrothed to a single boy of eighteen years, and in another instance lately a Brahmin judicial officer betrothed two of his daughters to two brothers residing at Pubna; and he is now contemplating the betrothal of other two daughters to them. On all these occasions large sums of money were taken in advance by the fathers of the bridegrooms.

THE total quantity of tea exported from China and Japan from the commencement of the season to the 27th of October, was 118,113,895 lbs., as compared with 120,278,493 lbs. during the corresponding period of last year. The exports to the United States and Canada during the same period were 55,387,482 lbs., as against 53,355,069 lbs.

THE Melbourne correspondent of the Sydney Mail makes the following reference to a fashionable wedding in the Victorian capital, that will not be without interest to many in India :—

"Talking of weddings reminds me that there is another, also a 'fashionable' one coming off next week. Miss Cunningham, a recent arrival from India, and a well connected here, came and saw and conquered. Mr. Arthur Blackwood met the young lady at an assembly ball, was captivated at first sight, and immediately capitulated; for the story of 'Romeo and Juliet' as related in the first act, is never quite out of date, only in this case there is no feud between the two houses represented by the betrothed. And as there is plenty of money on both sides you may be sure there will be what is called 'a stylish wedding. Moreover, both have opulent friends as well as relatives; and I had heard fair gossips speak 'with bated breath' of the number and value of the presents which the bride is to receive. The diamonds, so rumour reports, are so numerous, and of such brilliancy, that they are to be exhibited in a dark room for the admiration and delight of female eyes. 'I do so look forward to it,' I heard one lady exclaim; 'for, do you know, I dote upon diamonds.' It is, I believe, a feminine weakness."

IN the Danish State Council two measures have been provisionally decreed, one for the formation of a gendarmery corps, to be organized on a military basis and placed under the orders of the War Department, and the other authorizing Government grants to the Communes to defray extraordinary police expenses. The preamble to the decree states that, as under present circumstances, it may be anticipated that the civil authorities will be desirous of making more extended claims upon the military for assistance than the needs of the army itself render it capable of bearing, the King has deemed it imperatively necessary to establish a corps of gendarmery, with the special purpose of affording aid to the civil authorities throughout the country in maintaining public security, peace, and order, and upholding the existing laws.

THE marriage of Mdlle. Nevada was a great occasion, but that of the Princess Marie of Orleans is a greater, and the Daily News correspondent has accordingly surpassed all his previous efforts in descriptive millinery. One dress is like a "shoaling sea," another is a "dress for a maiad," while a third is "a dream of lovely colour;" and all of them "mould the figure in lines that would enchant a sculptor." The glories of Queen Mab and Titania fairly pale beside the following extract of fairydom :—

The textures of the dresses are of the most sumptuous description, including plushes with a tender bloom of colour on them like the down on a butterfly's wing, or the soft powdery film on a ripe nectarine; silks so soft that whole breadths could be drawn through a wedding-ring without injuring the fabric; and embroideries so finely wrought as to recall the arabesques and fanciful traceries of King Frost, with all the fragile delicacy of a spider's web.

MILITARY NEWS.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL FITZGERALD, Majors Hamilton and Cummins, and Captain J. Adye will proceed to the northern camp-of-exercise on duty.

THE appointment of Major-General Sir C. J. S. Gough, K.C.B., V.C., to the Divisional Staff of the Army in India, vice Major-General Sir Henry Macpherson, K.C.B., K.C.S.I., V.C., is notified in the Gazette.

A MILITARY circular from home has been issued in India, calling for names of men proceeding home to England for discharge, who are desirous of appointment to the new corps of Military Foot Police which is being formed.

THE following officiating appointments have been made in the 1st Gorkhas :—Lieutenant-Colonel Young to be Commandant, vice Colonel Story on general leave. Captain Robinson, to be 2nd-in-command; Lieutenant Martin, wing commander; Lieutenant Powell, adjutant; Lieutenant Kerr, quartermaster.

MAJOR EVANS and Lieutenant Capper, East Lancashire Regiment, have been detailed as Provost Marshal and Assistant Provost Marshal, respectively, with the Sindkera Force, at the camp-of-exercise. The appointment of Major A. Fishe, 8th Bengal Infantry, as Brigade Major, 2nd Infantry Brigade, 1st Division, Northern Force, camp-of-exercise, has been cancelled.

TWO Snider rifles were stolen from the 2nd Punjab Infantry at the Rawalpindi Camp, on the 4th instant, when the regiment was on its way to the camp-of-exercise. One of the sepoys whose rifle was stolen heard a noise near him, and looking out of his tent saw three men making off. He chased them into a thick wood where he was knocked down and hurt—either by a thief or a tree: the thieves escaping.

THERE is an early prospect of an appointment being made to the command of the Calcutta Presidency Volunteers. The names of two or three officers have gone up to the Commander-in-Chief, and the choice is likely to fall on Colonel F. J. Keen, C. B., now doing duty at Mussoorie. Colonel Keen is a distinguished soldier, who has seen much practical service, having been through the Mutiny, several of the North-West frontier campaigns, and the Afgan War of 1878-79; and his appointment would be sure to give great satisfaction to the corps. The names of Major Tousilen, V.C., late Adjutant of the Behar Mounted Police, and Major Fletcher, 6th Bengal Cavalry, are also mentioned in connection with the appointment. Colonel Keen has the advantage over these officers for such a post as that of Commandant of the Presidency Battalion of Volunteers, as he is an infantryman, and though there is a Mounted Company in Calcutta, the infantry regiment is the backbone of the Battalion.

ARRIVAL OF SIR DONALD STEWART.

HIS EXCELLENCY GENERAL SIR DONALD STEWART, Commander-in-Chief in India, arrived in Bombay yesterday in the s.s. Satara from Kurrachee. The Satara steamed into the harbour at 12 o'clock, and anchored off the Apollo-bunder. She was gaily decorated with streamers and flags. Captain Coxt, R.N., Director of Indian Marine, and Colonel Coombe, Military Secretary, put off for the Satara in the steam launch in half an hour afterwards Sir Donald landed at the Apollo-bunder. He was accompanied by the Hon. Mr. Hope, Member of the Viceregal Council, who is on a visit to Lord Reay; General Baker, Adjutant-General, Bengal Army; Colonel Moore, His Excellency's interpreter; and Surgeon-Major Davies. General Stewart was met on the landing steps by His Excellency General Hardinge, Commander-in-Chief of the Bombay Army, who had come to Bombay on Sunday; Brigadier-General Heathcote, Commanding the Bombay District; General Hughes, General Bayley, Colonel Pneips, Colonel Sexton, Colonel Smart, Colonel Rivett-Carnac, Deputy Surgeon-General Bruce, Dr. Auchenleck, Major Rowlandson, Major Watling, Captain Owen, Captain Roupell, and Risaldar-Major Hassan Ally Khan. After shaking hands with the gentlemen present, Sir Donald drove away with the Brigadier-General. His Excellency is the guest of General Hardinge at the Cooperage during his stay in Bombay.

THE Hon. Mr. Hope will be the guest of Mr. Justice Kemball for a day or two, after which he proceeds to Mahableshwar to visit Lord Reay. Salutes of seventeen and fifteen guns were fired at the saluting battery to announce the arrival of Sir Donald Stewart and Mr. Hope.

SIR FREDERICK ROBERTS.

THE following is an extract from District Orders by Brigadier-General C. T. Heathcote, C. B., Commanding the District :—It is notified that H. E. Sir F. S. Roberts, G.C.B., V.C., C.I.E., Royal Artillery, is expected to land at the Apollo-bunder from the mail-steamer about noon to-day. Heads of departments and officers commanding corps are directed to attend. Full dress to be worn.

The 2nd East York Regiment will detail a guard of honour of 100 rank and file, with band and regimental colour, under the command of a captain, to parade at the bunder to receive His Excellency.

A salute of seventeen guns will be fired from the Saluting Battery as soon as His Excellency leaves the steamer.

THE GAIETY THEATRE.

THERE is no evidence to show that the popularity of the English Opera Bouffe Company, which has been in possession of the Gaiety Theatre for the past fortnight, is on the wane. The indications point rather to a contrary conclusion. But whatever measure of success has been accorded to the company is due to, or in command of, the enterprise of the manager and the talent of the members. An entirely new departure was made last evening, when the "Grand Duchess" was performed. This, we believe, is the first time that Offenbach's masterpiece has been produced in Bombay. The opera makes large demands on the performers, but the company were fully equal to the occasion, and the applause which their efforts evoked must have been very gratifying to them.

GORDON BOYS' HOME.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—Sir Frederic Goldsmid writes to me :—"I am sending you some papers on the Gordon Boys' Home, and shall feel much obliged if you can make it widely known that this has been fairly started. But we are greatly in want of more funds, especially in the shape of yearly subscriptions, in order to make the Home a real success." India has, I know, subscribed, but not (I think) to the memorial in its present form. I venture now to ask for subscriptions for this excellent charity. The Home will eventually provide for about 500 boys between the ages of 14 and 18, who will be trained for the army or navy, or for civil careers in the colonies or elsewhere which would require active bodily exertion. When I add that the President of the Home is H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, and that the vice-presidents are his brothers and H. R. H. the Duke of Cambridge, then I think I have shown that the charity is a national one, and should appeal to all those who admire Gordon, and wish that his name should be perpetuated in a manner which would probably have been most pleasing to himself.

Messrs. Wm. Watson and Co., of 27, Apollo-street, have kindly consented to receive subscriptions which may be sent to them, and which will be acknowledged in the Bombay Gazette and in the Times of India.

I shall be truly grateful to the editors of the papers in the other Presidencies if they will publish this appeal, and thus help the good work.

His Excellency Lord Reay has kindly promised me Rs. 100.—Yours very faithfully,

FREDERIC J. GOLDSMID.

Belgaum, Nov. 21.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to the taste, it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine dealers everywhere at 1s. 1½d. per bottle. Wholesale by the Anglo-American Drug Company, Limited, 33, Farringdon-road, London.

THE MATRICULATION EXAMINATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—At a meeting held this afternoon the Syndicate directed me to invite all persons who may be in possession of any information as to the mode in which the Matriculation Examination papers, or portions of such papers, came prematurely into the hands of certain candidates to communicate at once with them. Their next meeting will be on Friday of this week,—I am, &c.

Nov. 23. PETER PETERSON.

II.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—Seeing in your paper the exposure of the disgraceful way in which the Matriculation Examination in Bombay is managed—for there must be something wrong for the papers to be divulged as they obviously are—I take the opportunity, while public attention is attracted to the subject, to bring to notice my own experience in connection with the Bombay University. I saw in your columns an advertisement asking those gentlemen who were willing to assist in the examination to send in their names to the Registrar for submission to the Senate by a certain date. Having had a good deal of experience in this work, and having little field for higher study in my own appointment, I sent in my name in the course, mentioning my qualifications, and suggesting that as one who had no pupils to prepare, and in no way interested or rendered partial, my assistance might be considered useful, especially considering that I reside within a day's post of Bombay. My application, however, was favoured by no reply, and this is the second time that I have met with this discourtesy. I may mention that I am an M. A. of Cambridge University, having graduated in the first class of my Tripos, and was a scholar and prizeman of my college.

That even lithographed statement of refusal should not be sent is, to say the least of it, discourteous, while the rejection of proffered aid seems to me to point to the existence of a "ring" of examiners who are jealous of, or dread, extraneous interference. I hope that the present exposure of the failure of their system may prove a warning to the Senate.

III.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—While complimenting you on the great service done to the public at large by laying open the columns of your paper to the complaint of the Matriculation Examination of late, current year, will you allow me to state that it must have been a surprise to many to see in your to-day's column the questions of one of the papers of the L. M. and S. Examination to be held next Monday? It is now disclosed, every where, beyond a shadow of a doubt that the questions set in the Matriculation Examination were out long before the day fixed. Should the questions of the L. M. and S. paper laid bare by your correspondent to-day prove to be true, I think it is now high time to sift the matter to the very bottom. If matters are allowed to stand as they are without making every possible effort to trace the source of this evil, we cannot say how far the same might in future extend. It is now therefore necessary for the officials of the University, for the sake of its prestige and in justice to the candidates appearing in the examination, to be up and doing.

Nov. 23. H. H. W.

IV.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—It was with great pleasure I learnt from your columns, that the Matriculation Examination is to be re-held. The new arrangement will, no doubt, put the University to some inconvenience, but justice must be done at any sacrifice. And now if justice is to be done, let it be complete.

I hear that female candidates are not to be re-examined. I do not see any reason for this. Granting that they did not know any of the questions previously, why should they be particularly exempted from a new examination? The difficulties, too, did not know the questions; they might be exempted as well as the lucky ones, and so on and so on. It might be urged that they are the "fair sex." After all, I am far from denying the privileges of the "fair sex." But as most of the female candidates live in Bombay, I do not think that a re-examination would put them to any great inconvenience. At all events this inconvenience would be nothing, compared with that which many male candidates would have to suffer. I think, therefore, that the re-examination should be held, and, in doing so, the question of equilibrium a similar deduction ought to be made from the value of all the papers, and the English paper should not be singled out for the purpose. With the History paper scarcely any fault is to be found, except that it contained questions in Physical Geography, in which candidates reasonably expect to score a few marks by which they can cover their deficiency in History. The Euclid paper was fairly easy, but not unobnoxious for its severity. The severity of the questions in this paper ought to be at once relaxed. The Euclid paper for these few years has been as long as it used to be before, though the time for working it has been abridged from three hours to two. The examiner in Euclid ought to bear the fact of this reduction of time in mind, in order to be able to proportion the quantity of work set by him to the time allotted for its execution, which was a judicious recommendation made by the Educational Conference held in July last. I must not forget to mention that year after year there crops up in the English paper a question on the origin and affinity of languages. It is needless to remark that all such questions are quite out of place in the Matriculation English paper, and ought to be relegated to the region of Comparative Philology.

A TEACHER.

ARRIVAL OF THE TROOPSHIP TENASSERIM.

THE troop-ship Tenasserim, 1,703 tons, Captain George Wilson, arrived in harbour yesterday from Rangoon (12th inst.), calling at Trincomallee (18th inst.), whence she brought 20 men, the crew of Indus, and two boats. She experienced very heavy weather, south-easterly winds, and high seas from Rangoon to Trincomallee. The following men-of-war and troopships were at Rangoon :—The Turquoise, the Sphinx, the Mariner, the Woodlark, the Clive, and the Canning. The Enchantress and the Ranger were expected daily. The vessel took two batteries of artillery and their guns from Madras to Rangoon. She is about to leave shortly for Vingorla, and will be engaged in troopings on this side of India.

HYDERABAD RACES, 1885.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

FOURTH DAY—THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19.

A CHANGE has at length come over the spirit of our meeting. The first indications of this manifested themselves at the totterics on the evening of Wednesday, when a large gathering assembled at the stand, and paper after paper filled rapidly, business to the extent of Rs. 20,000 in round figures being done. The mania for speculation continued rife next day, and the bookmakers' ring was constantly during the evening surrounded by an eager crowd tendering money on one or other of the favourites in the different events. The tide of fortune has, I think, turned in favour of the metallicians also, and I hope they got back a good portion of their losses on the previous days. One or two "morals" were upset to-day, and great was the lamentation at the result. Proceedings opened with Euclid walking over for the entrance money in the Trimulgherry Stakes as no other would compete against him. Then five stripped for the Selling Race, for which Masquerade was entrusted with a good deal of support, but on account of his appearing with a very swollen leg public favour was transferred to Liberator, who was backed down to a very short price, and justified this confidence by winning easily in very fair time. Seven gallowys faced the starter for the Residency Purse. Rishan on public form even, with the crushing impost allotted him, was made favourite, Someday, carrying 2lbs. less, being next favourite, but remotely removed. Shamshad should have been treated with greater respect than he was. Rishan ran very badly to-day, while Someday made a very bold bid for victory, and after a game struggle with Shamshad, both beautifully ridden, was defeated in no discreditable manner, Galopin was also well backed for this event, but though he had the services of a very good jockey could only get a respectable third place. In the Paikpara Purse Handicap the top weight adjudged to Trafalgar could not stop that wonderful horse, who is in the very pink of condition at the present moment. The majority of the talent relied on Trafalgar being able to carry his impost right through to victory, while others doubted his capabilities, and looked elsewhere for a more likely candidate for their favour. In this doubt Sparkle and Tabletop received about an equal share of support, the latter being declared for by his stable was backed on his running on Tuesday last. Trafalgar, however, gave proof of his rare quality by running a rare game horse, and won easily. In all three races the horse has won here his jockey has never once moved in the saddle, but has won easily, and so the public have no indication as to his tether. The Deccan Cup provided the feature of the evening. Shereali was installed a hot favourite, and though some of the others were backed for large amounts against all the large amounts were staked on Shereali, who was heavily backed by his own stable. One sportsman who has his eyes well about him, however, gauged the form of Sunshine fairly well on his previous appearance, when he left off with a balance to his credit. This gentleman observed this, and backed him to-day to win Rs. 1,000 at 5 to 1. His judgment was very nearly being upset, for the race was a most close one, so close indeed that the judges deliberated before giving their verdict, which one for a moment was said to have declared as a "dead heat;" but both finally agreed it was in favour of Sunshine by a short head, or actually by his nose. Much has been made of the delay in the deliverance of the verdict, but when judges are not well acquainted with the horses running it is nothing strange if they wish to establish the identity of the particular nose or head that first caught their eye, and this was the case in the present instance. There was great consternation at the result of the race. The public felt it a kind of grievance that the judges should give a verdict against general expectation. It is hard lines to be baulked of what one has come to reason is a certainty. The Plate Race merely supplied a similar incident. The public went as a man for Enormity, and hedged on Bantam and Star, some few trusting to Grey Mist. The issue was a wonder, Bantam and Star being knocked down and run over by a carriage, sustaining fatal injuries. A verdict of accidental death was returned.

For the next quarter mile Little Wonder showed out in front, but at the ½ mile post he fell back, while Someday took second place to Shamshad, and got up to his quarters at the ¾ mile, and turning into the straight a great race ensued between the two splendid horsemen, and Shamshad, lasting out well, secured the verdict by a neck. The other three took close order and ran level to the turn for home, where Trafalgar, followed by Sparkle, drew out, but the latter was soon in trouble, and Kendall sitting still came away and won hands down by a length. Bad third. Time—3min. 2⅔sec.

FIFTH RACE.—The Deccan Cup. Value Rs. 1,000. Pres

events, on solid foundations, and we have advanced considerably nearer to the object in view than I had ventured to expect. The least agreeable portion of our discussions has devolved on my colleague, Sir Rivers Wilson, and on myself, for we have frequently found ourselves in opposition to the majority of the Commission, and we desire to thank you for the kindness and courtesy with which you have treated these divergences. Each and every one has done his duty with firmness and moderation, and we shall separate, I am certain, with feelings of mutual friendship and esteem. It only remains for me, gentlemen, to ask you to join with me in giving expression to the hope that the great statesmen who will examine our work will appreciate our efforts, and contrive in their wisdom to smooth away every difficulty, and to sign an international treaty insuring for ever the free navigation of the Suez Canal. That will be the noblest crowning of the work of the illustrious Frenchman, M. de Lesseps, who has so well deserved of his country and of all civilized nations."

Appended to the protocol is a copy of the draft treaty. The articles on which the chief differences of opinion arose were three in number. Article V. provided that no right of war, no act of hostility, should be committed in the Canal, "or in its approaches, or in the ports of access, or in the territorial waters of Egypt." This article was accepted by the German, Austro-Hungarian, Spanish, French, Netherlands, Russian, and Turkish delegates under reserve that the extent of the territorial waters of Egypt should be hereafter defined by an arrangement between the Powers. The British and Italian delegates accepted the article under reserve that the words "or in its approaches, or in the ports of access, or in the territorial waters of Egypt" should be replaced by the following, "and its ports of access as well as within a radius of three marine miles from these ports."

The British delegates also proposed that Article VI., which stipulated that vessels should not disembark or embark troops, munitions, or materials of war in the Canal and its ports of access, should be amended in the following manner:—"In time of war belligerent Powers shall not disembark or embark within the Canal either troops, munitions, or materials of war." To this amendment the Italian delegates agreed, though they wished to retain the words "and its ports of access." In the discussion on Article IX. the British delegates were again supported by their Italian colleagues and by them only. This article proposed a Commission which was to be composed of the representatives of certain unnamed Powers in Egypt, with whom was to be associated an Egyptian delegate with consultative voice, under the presidency of a special Turkish delegate. This Commission was to come to an arrangement with the proper authorities for insuring the free use of the Canal, supervise the application of the treaty, and inform the Powers of the measures necessary for its execution. The article concluded by a stipulation that the rights of the Sultan and the Khedive should not in any way be affected by the working of the Commission. The British delegates proposed to substitute the following instead of this article:—"The representatives in Egypt of the Powers signatory of the present treaty shall watch over its execution, and inform their respective Governments without delay of every violation, or danger of violation, of its provisions which may arise. In case of war or of internal troubles, or other events threatening the safety or the free passage of the Canal, they shall meet on the summons of one of their number to proceed to the necessary verifications. They shall inform their respective Governments of the proposals which may appear to them advisable to insure the protection and the free use of the Canal."

THE AGE OF MEN IN THE ARMY.

THE returns of the army for last year, recently made up in their complete form, show that the proportion of very young soldiers in the ranks is increasing, being greater at the present time than it was a year ago. Thus out of every 1,000 non-commissioned officers and men there were 578 who were under 25 years of age; but now it appears that the proportion has risen to 605, and this increase is undoubtedly very largely due to the authority given in 1883 to specially enlist promising recruits at 18 years of age, the regulations in the two preceding years having fixed 19 as the limit. The proportion of soldiers under 18 at the beginning of this year was small, being 10 per 1,000, the same as in the two years before; between 18 and 19 it was 49, an increase of 13; between 19 and 20, 87, an increase of 23; between 20 and 25, 450, a decrease of 9; between 25 and 30, 228, a decrease of 12; between 30 and 35, 94, a decrease of 14; between 35 and 40, 59, a decrease of 1; and over 40, 14, the same proportion as in the two proceeding years. Of the 84,263 troops at home at the time of reckoning, about one seventh (12,068) were between 19 and 20, this being the largest number of one age; of the 40,362 in the colonies and Egypt, nearly one eighth (5,191) were between 22 and 23; and of the 56,388 in India, about the same proportion (7,042) were also between 22 and 23. Taken by the branches of the service, in the Household Cavalry the largest number of men of one age proves to be between 21 and 22; in the cavalry of the line it is between 20 and 21; in the Royal Artillery, between 22 and 23; in the Royal Engineers, also between 22 and 23; in the Foot Guards between 20 and 21; in the Infantry of the line, between 22 and 23; in the colonial corps, between 20 and 24; of the Commissariat and Transport Corps, between 21 and 22; in the Ordnance Store Corps, between 25 and 26; and in the Medical Staff Corps, between 22 and 23. As might be expected, the ages of men serving abroad are higher than at home. In India the highest proportion in each branch—cavalry, artillery, and infantry—is between 22 and 23, 104 per 1,000 of the whole body serving in the country. In the case of troops in the colonies and Egypt the age maximum varies. It is lowest in the Commissariat and Transport Corps, where the largest number of men of one age is between 21 and 22, and highest in the Royal Engineers and Ordnance Store Corps, between 25 and 26. The artillery, line infantry, and Medical Staff Corps in India have most men between 22 and 23, and the cavalry between 24 and 25.

THE VOTE OF A MODERATE LIBERAL.

UNDER the title "The Vote of a Moderate Liberal," Mr. Edward Dicey, in an article in the Nineteenth Century, says, after surveying the whole political situation:—"I am forced to the conclusion that, as a Moderate Liberal, it is my duty to do what in me lies to support the Conservative party at the coming elections. If I stand alone in this conviction it matters nothing to anybody. If, as I believe, my conviction is very widely and very genuinely shared by that large body of Englishmen who, though their proclivities may be Liberal rather than Conservative, yet care much more for the welfare of their country than they care for the success of the party then that conviction may lead to very important and very unexpected results. According to my belief, the approaching election will witness a very general protest on the part of the Moderate Liberals against the principles and the policy which have found favour of late years with the Liberal party under the leadership of Mr. Gladstone and the influence of Mr. Chamberlain. Now this protest may manifest itself in two ways. We may either stop away from the polls or we may give our votes in favour of the Conservatives. Which of the two forms of protest should be adopted is a question which individual Liberals must decide for themselves. My own view is for the latter, as being more telling, more straightforward, more English. 'Quit ye like men.' Such was the eloquent peroration of Mr. Goschen's address to the Liberal electorate at Edinburgh. I confess I feel at a loss how to reconcile this precept with Mr. Goschen's language the other day at Hendon about the unreasonableness of expecting men such as Lord Hartington to 'betray the traditions of which they are heirs, and to abandon the school in which they were brought up.' I agree most heartily that such a course of action is not a pleasant one. It is not necessary to be a Cabinet Minister, the heir of a dukedom, and the bearer of an historic name to feel that the severance of the political associations of a lifetime is no light or welcome task. But to quit oneself like a man is to do as duty bids, no matter whether that duty be pleasant or the reverse. It is not enough for men to have opinions of their own; they must have the courage of their opinions also. If we care for facts, not for names, if we value the maintenance of Liberal principles higher than the success of the Liberal party, then at the approaching election we Moderate Liberals shall do our best to return a Conservative majority. We may fail, but if we do we shall at least have quitted ourselves like men."

INDIAN STUDENTS IN ENGLAND.

THE increasing number of young Indians who are annually sent over to England in order to be educated has suggested to the Indian National Association that the time has now come when it would be desirable to recognise the fact in some definite and efficient manner. There is no doubt that the future of our Eastern Empire will be largely modified by the constant return to its midst of high class natives who are imbued with the civilisation and modes of thought common among Europeans. It is therefore a matter of importance to secure, if possible, that the education received over here should be such as to fit the recipients for the position which they may be called on to fill in their own land, and such also as may beneficially impress the masses whose opinions will necessarily be leavened by those of their more privileged countrymen. To this end the committee of the Indian National Association has, under certain conditions, announced their readiness to undertake the superintendence of Indian students proceeding to England. The prospectus of their intentions which is now before us gives every promise of success. The society, of which Lord Hobhouse is the president, evidently have no wish to be "grandmotherly." They do not propose to establish a boarding-house and to turn out a pedantic generation of young Indians, all educated on a cut-and-dried system, and imbued with the fads of one or two, scholarly, but not necessarily infallible, people. On the contrary, their scheme appears to be elastic and comprehensive, and even, as such a movement should be, to some extent deliberately tentative. They offer a system of intelligent supervision more akin to the functions of some general governing body than of those of the ordinary schoolmaster. Indian gentlemen who have hitherto been compelled to turn their sons loose in England, with all the risks of their falling into mercenary or incompetent hands, will in future have only themselves to blame if they do not take advantage of the opportunity now placed within their reach. It is proposed, in a word, to "keep will be placed at such schools" in the future. They highly qualified and [illegible] or institutions as a [illegible] men may gather [illegible] only unprincipled body their capacities, [illegible] to be most suited to ment being [illegible] the needful personal supervision [illegible] provided for by the immediate [illegible] of Mr. Algernon Brown, whose satisfactory ensur[illegible]e post is undeniable. This will, of course, [illegible] them the best chance of ultimately entering a profession for which they have shown most natural aptitude. A second point to be kept in view is the better introduction of the student, so far as practicable, to a more favourable view of home life and manners than has hitherto been possible to the majority of those whose fortunes have been so commiserable in the absence of all definite direction from independent quarters. In addition to this, the society will have opportunities, denied to most private individuals, of causing the students to become familiar with the details of our great commercial system, and particularly with those manufactures which form the staple of our trade with India. Finally, the association are prepared to act as bankers for the students, and to ensure the right application of the considerable funds required to complete an English gentleman's education. It need scarcely be stated that the Indian National Society itself is an institution of considerable standing, and entirely open to men of all political opinions. The Princess of Wales is its patroness, and Lord Dufferin, equally with Lord Ripon, is among its warm supporters. Experience has taught us the constantly evil effects on the young Oriental of a too sudden and indiscriminate acquaintance with Western civilisation. Mr. F. O. Adams, so long Her Majesty's Minister in Japan, has left on record the considerable harm done to progress in that country by the creation of a class of young travellers who have looked only on the finished product of English life, and missed the many links in the chain of events by which it was attained. A very similar process is going on in the case of the young Indian students. The "monkey who has seen the world" is a dangerous unit in every society. Under the plan now advanced "Young India" will have a chance of adding sound knowledge to rapid vision.—Morning Post.

THE PUBLIC
SHOW A DECIDED PREFERENCE FOR SCHIEDMAYER AND SOEHNE'S
PIANOFORTES.

READ EXTRACTS FROM TESTIMONIALS.

DURABILITY:—"The last Piano I bought from you I took up to Mount Abu with me, and notwithstanding it had travelled 400 miles by rail previously, it arrived after 16 miles in bullock cart, at the top of a Hill, in excellent Tune. On my return to Ahmedabad the Piano accompanied me, and has as yet not required tuning. The facts speak for themselves. 500 miles by rail and 30 odd in a bullock cart, and the instrument in perfect order at the end of it."

"During the last 8 months it has had two long journeys—one from Bombay to Jacobabad, and the other from that place here (Deesa) * * * Notwithstanding the Piano is in excellent order."

"Standing the test of this trying climate most wonderfully."

"The more it is used the richer and softer it is."

TONE:—"Its tone is much admired, and we are thoroughly satisfied."

"It has always kept its brilliancy and sweetness of tone."

"Beautiful Tone." "A very good and sweet tone." "Full and rich in tone." "Brilliant in tone." "The Piano you sold me 18 months ago has both improved in tone and touch." "Sweet and brilliant in tone."

TOUCH:—"Charmingly flexible." "Soft, pleasant, and easy to the touch." "Has a flexible Touch." "The touch is so excellent that one does not tire playing."

TUNE-KEEPING:—"After 8 months of continual hammering by my many bachelor friends and myself, the Piano is in splendid order; but if your tuner comes up this side soon, I should like him to tune it to prevent my being non plussed for a tuner by accident."

"Piano travelled about with me in the District of Kattiawar for some years, during which time it was not even once tuned."

"My Piano has been in constant use for 19 months, and has never been tuned. It is a wonderful instrument."

ACTION:—"I do not recognise any jingling when the pedal is made use of." "I have never found their Action fail." "Good repeating Action." "No metallic jingling."

STANDS THE CLIMATE OF INDIA:—Notwithstanding the instrument having stood in a room which is open and exposed to the breeze all day and all night, its brilliancy of tone is perfect, and is in every respect as good as the day we bought it. "Wood has never warped." "The frame is perfect."

WORKMANSHIP:—"Speaks well for the workmanship and material, for it has travelled on the journey from Bombay here over 1,000 miles by rail and seventy-five by native bullock train."

OPINIONS:—"It is, I believe, a generally acknowledged fact that they are the best Pianos for this country." "The Schiedmayer and Soehne's Piano gives me every satisfaction. I could not get a better instrument." "A. I. Piano for the Country." "Always my favourite."
